The spirits and sprites will do their work f match-making to-night—our work will hen begin, so we furnish a list of household saints.
First the French Louis'—not canonized, despite their benefits to posterity. If you do not know the wealth of beauty they have bequeathed, our showrooms have an interesting story to tell. And who ever heard of Saint David? Yet the Empire style is largely his legacy The Euglish saints must not be forgot-ten. How much comfort we owe to Chip-pendale, Morris and the rest! Also the pendale, Morris and the rest! Also the Dutch masters, who designed for the fathers of New Amsterdam, deserve a place at the head of the list. Many a sturdy and beautiful piece of our making was originally their model.

So you see the "saints" furnish a delightful provision for wedding gifts, and we furnish factory prices, as you
